

A Boy

Sees rules as something to get around
Does not think according to system
Is distracted by trivial things
Avoids serious commitment
Shirks responsibility and is forgetful of it
Is quickly distracted
Is discouraged by obstacles
Is often ill-mannered and ruled by his feelings
Works in fits and starts and leaves jobs unfinished
Whines and complains at difficulty
Is infatuated with the immediate
Wants to have fun
Needs external discipline to stay on the right path
Engenders chaos in ordered situations
Goes along with his environment
Waits passively for life to happen to him
Is impressed by show
Is concerned that he be liked
Braggs and struts
Looks to be praised
Views women as a source of self-indulgence
Wants a mother to care for him
Dreams only of his own accomplishments
Is mainly self-focused

A Man

Sees the purpose of rules and honors them
Attempts to order his intellectual world
Is concerned with important matters
Looks for the right commitments and makes them
Desires responsibility
Is focused and steady
Sticks to his purpose
Keeps himself in hand
Finishes his work
Does not complain, and either acts or endures
Looks to ultimate consequences
Wants to do his duty
Imposes his own inner discipline
Orders the chaos he encounters
Influences his environment
Takes initiative according to his ideals
Deeply considers character and principle
Is concerned that he be respected
Does not exult himself, but lets his actions speak
Looks to express gratitude to others
Looks to honor and protect women
Wants a wife as a partner in mission
Helps others into their full maturity
Is focused on others